

13. "Suitcase Stories" : An exhibition of the stories of migrants told through artistic suitcases in association with UNICEF

Venue:

Date: 21st September 2011

Suitcase Stories is an artistic project that brings together a group of the City's younger citizens to explore and celebrate the great social diversity of the new, multicultural Dublin. The participants share the experiences of migration and integration, and can all trace their own histories beyond the shores of Ireland itself. Over the course of several months, the participants have come together across a series of artistic workshops to explore the nuances of their own identities, and where those identities fit into the new multicultural tapestry of the City, and its' people. Each Suitcase Story represents a reflection of a life shared between different cultures and places, the story of how the participants have come to bridge their own cultural identities, the story of their memories of the past and their hopes for the future.
